TODAY

Hey mate🧑, it's been a year since Brexit. Be honest—has it made life better or worse for you?

11:30 AM ✓✓

Hey Hans! Haha😂, worse, no doubt. Since Brexit, prices in England went up because it is more expensive to bring things from the EU. Shops have a lot of problems with new rules and too much paperwork. Many promises were not kept – like easier trade or more money for hospitals. Everything is harder now, not better. Feels like we shot ourselves in the foot.😔

11:35 AM

Ouch🤢. Sounds rough! Will you have any problems visiting me in the future? Is Visa or foreign currency something you have to pay attention to?

11:36 AM ✓✓

Yes! That's another problem about the brexit. We are used to travel freely between european countrys💼! That's not possible any more. By leaving the EU, we lost the benefit of the so called „Schengenabkommen" which once allowed us to travel freely within europe!

11:40 AM

That's horrible! Visiting each other will becomme a total headache!

11:36 AM ✓✓

TODAY

Hi Michael! I'm very interested in your opinion about the Brexit and it's effects. It has been a year now right? 11:50 AM

Hi Felix! Yes, that's true! One year of missleading politics and horrible decisions!😡🤮 11:55 AM

That's realy bad but didn't they say the UK would be free to make better deals and controll everything?🙁 12:00 AM

Yeah, that was the dream. Reality? Trade's a mess, Northern Ireland's still a headache. Northern Ireland is still a problem after Brexit. There should be no hard border with Ireland, but also no border controlls between Northern Ireland and England. Both is not possible because criminal trades and illegal emigration can profite from these ideas. "Taking back control" sounds good, but it does not pay bills — businesses and people need simple solutions, not just such big words. 12:05 AM

Sounds rough. Do people regret it now?😔 12:06 AM

Oh yeah. A lot do. Leaving was the easy part—making it work is a whole different story.😭 12:10 AM